Balkan Medical Students' Congress Invitation Letter

Dear Academicians and Students,

We are delighted to invite you to the Balkan Medical Students' Congress, organized by the Trakya University Scientific Research Community (TÜBAT). This international event will bring together medical students and academicians from various countries.

Taking place in Edirne at Trakya University Balkan Congress Center on 12-14 April 2025, this event will feature a scientific program, a workshop program with hands-on activities, and a social program showcasing Edirne's cultural heritage.

Scientific Program

On April 12-13, sessions held at the congress center will allow future healthcare professionals to engage with the latest medical research and gain insights from expert speakers. The program will include inspiring sessions on genetics, cellular therapies, surgical and interventional technologies, artificial intelligence and clinical research, along with career and social discussion panels designed to broaden students' perspectives. Additionally, oral and poster presentation sessions will provide students with the opportunity to showcase their research.

Workshop Program

Through the planned workshops, we aim to create an environment where students can come together, socialize, and enhance their skills. These workshops will offer opportunities for academic development, such as suturing, specimen histological preparation, and frozen sectioning, as well as social activities like marbling art and martial arts.

Social Program

After the scientific program on the first day, a gala event will be held, providing an opportunity for students and faculty members to socialize and enjoy the evening with live music. On the second day, following the scientific sessions, we will explore Edirne's rich cultural and historical heritage by visiting its renowned mosque and historic squares, concluding the day with a tasting of the city's famous "Tava ciğer".

Cultural Program

On our third day, we will continue with our cultural program. After a delicious classic Turkish breakfast, we will take a surprise tour to get to know the Karaağaç region and the Meriç River more closely. We will visit Edirne's museums of medicine and history, and we will conclude the day with dessert.
